NinjaTrader 6.5 Released with Expanded Brokerage Support!

The addition of TD AMERITRADE brokerage support highlights NinjaTrader's latest release while numerous feature enhancements demonstrate its ongoing evolution as the industry's leading platform for Futures, Forex, and Equities traders.

Denver, April 7, 2008 – NinjaTrader, LLC, a leading provider of trading software for active traders, released a significantly enhanced version of their NinjaTrader trading platform today. This highly anticipated release strengthens NinjaTrader's industry leading position by expanding their already powerful feature set while remaining free to use for advanced charting, market analytics, strategy development and trade simulation.

There are over 160 enhancements including:

- ◆ TD AMERITRADE Support – Committed to being a universally supported platform, NinjaTrader adds equities support for industry leader TD AMERITRADE!
- ◆ New Forex Support – Continued growth through the addition of Interactive Brokers, MB Trading and IQFeed for forex trading and analysis!
- ◆ Event Driven Strategy Development – Strategy developers gain more control and flexibility by leveraging events such as order status updates, fill notifications, position updates and real-time level I and II market data access!
- ◆ Significant Charting Improvements – Over 30 new enhancements including Range bars, candle stick pattern recognition and enhanced drawing tools!
- ◆ Workspace Management – Additional control of the NinjaTrader environment has been made possible with this significant feature. Users can now create, save and work with multiple workspaces simultaneously providing a greater degree of flexibility and organization!
- ◆ More 3rd Party Add Ons – Market momentum by industry professionals continues to swing toward NinjaTrader's modern C# development environment as evidenced by the growth of 3rd party add-on tools!

“NinjaTrader version 6.5 continues the evolution of our industry leading platform as evidenced by the many new feature enhancements and the expansion of supported brokerage and 3rd party partners” said Raymond Deux, President of NinjaTrader. “In addition, we continue to listen to our users and incorporate many of their enhancement requests into our new versions to provide a comprehensive trading platform that specifically addresses their trading needs”.
